

Nigerian Journal of DERMATOLOGY

INFORMATION TO CONTRIBUTORS AND READERS

Nigerian Journal of Dermatologists, NJD, is a forum for communication of research results and policy issues in the health sciences especially as related to dermatology and allied sciences, Plastic Surgery, Venereology, Pathology, Anatomy, Physiology and Biochemistry.

The journal is dedicated to serving primarily scientists in Africa and other developing countries outside the continent who seek a medium for publishing their research findings. Since science is global, articles would be welcome from every geographical location across the world.

There are pressing and specific problems related to Africa and to people of coloured skin. Ainhum, acne keloidalis are examples of two of a long list of cutaneous diseases peculiar to the sub region and waiting for research by the basic sciences; gratifying modalities of treatment are equally awaited.

The editorial board will therefore give priority to the development and promotion of such cutaneous health issues.

Frequency of publication: Quarterly.

Content format: Each issue will contain essentially the following sections, with variants where necessary:

- i. A short editorial statement on policy issues not more than two thousand words, placed not necessarily on the first page.
- ii. A short review (not more than five thousand words) titled "Perspective" on a current topical issue in Dermatology.
- iii. One or two review articles by invitation or on application.
- iv. Peer reviewed articles by invitation or on application.
- v. Letters to the editor.
- vi. News about, and on, African health and related matters.

Research papers should be composed of the following in that order, clearly typed in double space:

- i. Title, which should be short and specific.
- ii. Full names of all the authors, qualifications and affiliations of each, and full address of each author. (Qualifications of authors are only required for purposes of Editor's use and not for publication).
- iii. Name and address of the corresponding author and his/her phone/fax numbers (home & office).
- iv. Sources of financial support, if any.
- v. Summary of not more than 200 words as well as three to four key words.
- vi. Introduction.
- vii. Materials and methods.
- viii. Results.
- ix. Discussion
- x. Conclusion

- xi. Acknowledgments — placed immediately after the next, and before the references
- xii. Citations and references will be arranged according to the Vancouver Style:

Editor's Comments

The year 2018 was stressful in Nigeria in all aspects – politically, socially and economically. It definitely had an impact on the activities of members of the Nigerian Association of Dermatologists and it definitely affected the annual association conference which took place in the ancient town of Ile-ife the seat of one of the first generation of Federal Universities.

Although the challenge regarding articles /manuscripts had been a chronic and perennial problem it seems to have been persistent which would account for the delay in the current edition of the Nigerian Journal of Dermatology. It is disheartening that many of the wonderful presentations at the conference never rise beyond the conference hall.

There is an ongoing attempt to become more visible – to go on line. This it is hoped would readily attract manuscripts from many sources instead of depending on local sources in Nigeria.

The current edition has included interactive session from the northern zone with one of the members of NAD in 2018 – focusing on albinism.

The abstracts of the numerous scientific papers presented at the Ife 2018 are included in this edition as well as some photos from the conference.

The elections in Nigeria have come and gone leaving , thankfully a relatively peaceful political atmosphere. It is our hope that all facets of life including NAD activities will pick up – resulting in a fruitful year.
